They can log out by clicking logout in the top left, and will be brought back to the original login screen.

Use Case #2: As an employee I want to change my display information (name, photo,...), and password inside the system
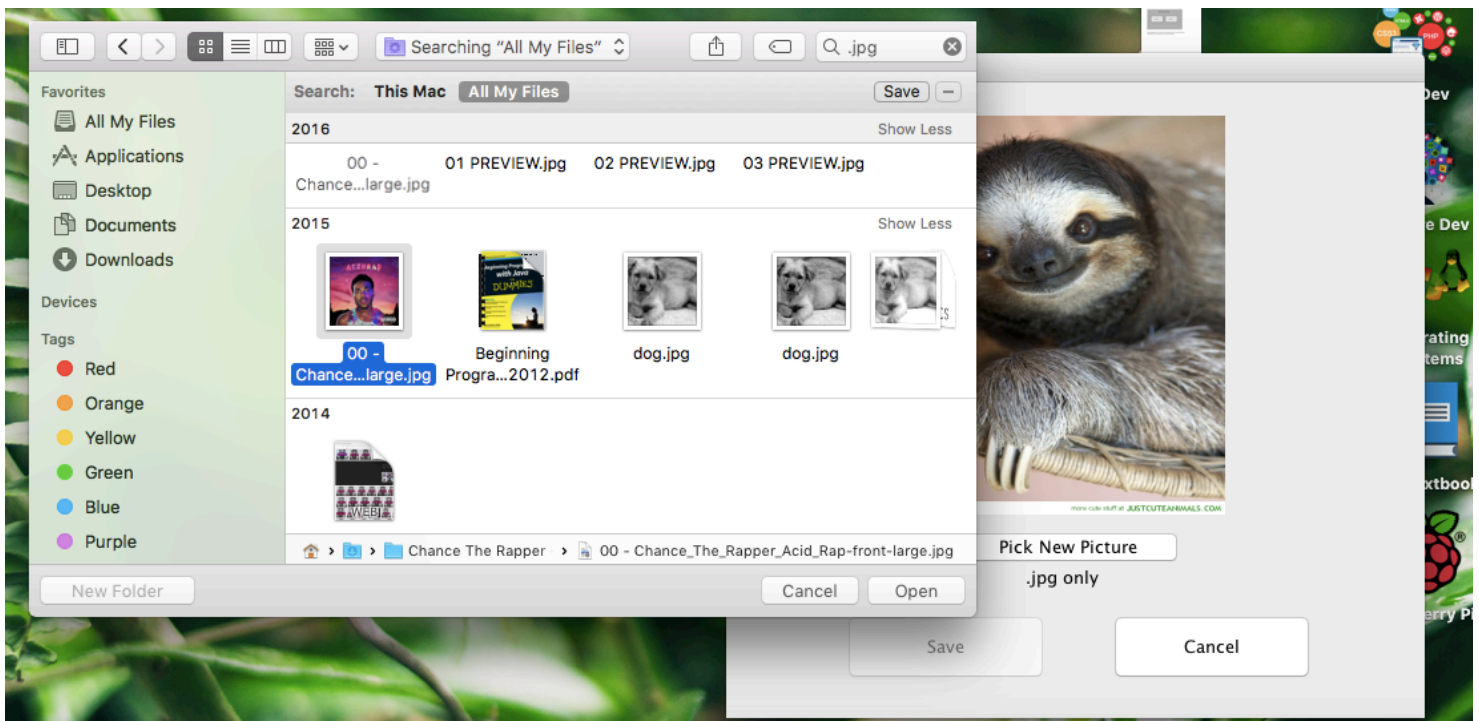

On the main screen they can click on their photo.

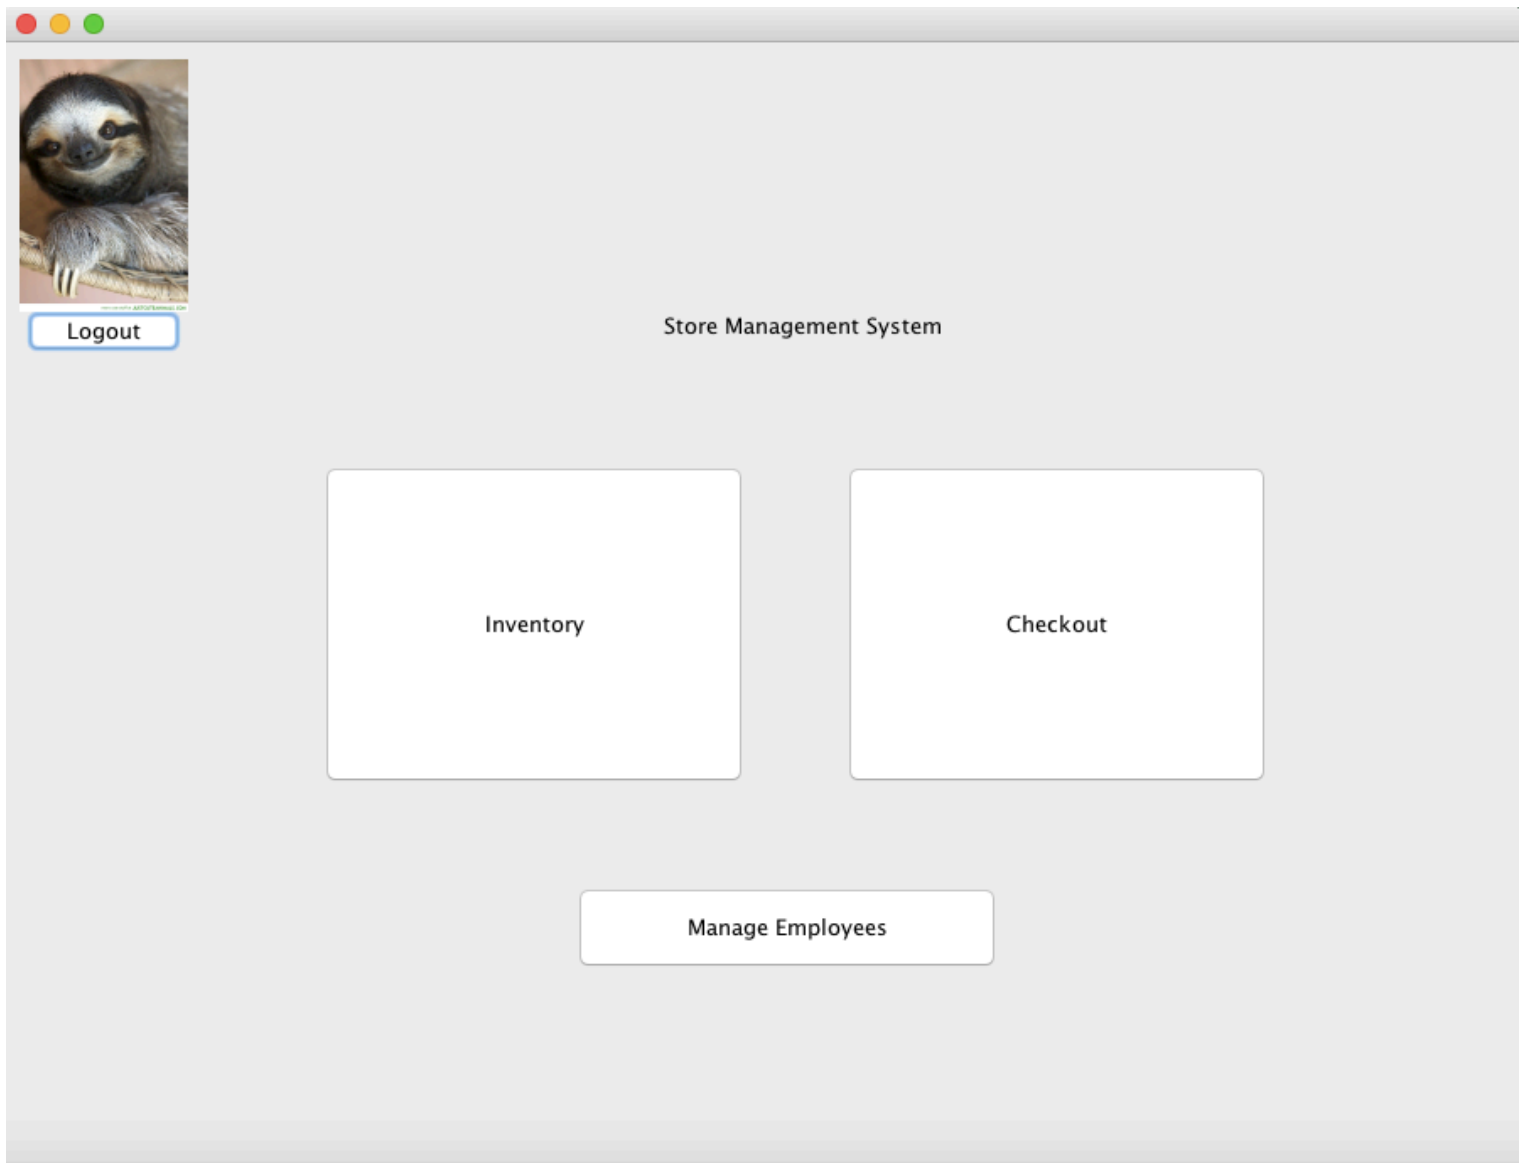

Then they are taken to this screen:

If they want to change their picture they can click "Pick New Picture", they are shown their directory and can select their picture.

Then they simply click save and their picture will be updated.

Use Case #3: As a manager I can assign or change the access rights to other employees

The main screen of a manager looks like this:

If they want to manager their employees, they click on Manage Employees. Then they get brought to the Edit Employee screen:
